

Talk by Dr Jim Cheshire at The Collection

2.00pm Wednesday 8th June 2022.

A Victorian Revival of Stained Glass.

Stained glass was revived with great enthusiasm by Victorian advocates of medieval art: this was the 'lost' form of art that was ripe for rediscovery. But, despite the surge of interest in the medium, few could agree on what 'modern' stained glass should look like: should Victorian stained glass resemble medieval stained glass or develop in line with contemporary art? This talk will explore this debate through looking at a range of Victorian windows including many excellent examples from Lincoln Cathedral.

The cost will be £8 per member and £10 for non-members.

The Collection Museum is closed to the public on Wednesday but will open its doors for the Friends at 1.30 on the 8th June. The Cafe will also be opened for us.
